Latinas against Cancer with Ysabel Duron

... to raise awareness about cancer in the Latino community, increase access to quality care, decrease mortality and improve the quality of the health care experience.

May 25, 2006 10am - 1pm

Registration Fee: $25.00

Registration deadline: May 23, 2006

Duron is a cancer survivor and the founder of Latinas Contra Cancer established in 2003. Latinas Contra Cancer is an organization dedicated to addressing the lack of resources available to Latinos with cancer, specifically in the low-income Spanish speaking community where support services and education is not readily available.

Duron, a television journalist for over 34 years, was honored in 2003 for her meritorious work as a journalist and as an advocate for Latinas with breast cancer, with the Janet Gray Hayes Award. The award is named after the 1st woman mayor of San Jose.

In October, 2003 she received the prestigious Juliette Gordon Low Award from the Santa Clara County Girl Scouts for her community leadership. The Low Award, named after the Founder of the Girl Scouts, is the highest honor given by the agency.

Duron is a founding member emeritus of the National Hispanic/Latina Advisory Council of the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation, Dallas, Texas. She sits on the local grants committee of the SF Komen Affiliate. She is also a board member of the Valley Medical Foundation in San Jose, CA. She is a member of the Roche Pharmaceutical Latino Cancer Advisory Council
